NEW "FROSTY MORN" DWARF MOCKORANGE

Plant Patent 1174

ULTIMATE HEIGHT IS ONLY 3½ FEET

A Fascinating Bush's Nursery Introduction!

THIS NEW MOCKORANGE IS TRULY IN A CLASS BY ITSELF!

The blossoms are pure white, sweet-scented, and every one is entirely double. The dainty, graceful branches are covered during the month of June with a shower of these glistening, snow-white flowers. There are also some blossoms in late summer and fall.

The dwarf, compact habit of growth makes the "Frosty Morn" an ideal shrub for foundation planting, for a beautiful hedge, or for specimen planting.

We are offering well branched shrubs which will bloom this year.

Care of Chrysanthemums

Hardy Mums are very easy to grow. Small plants set out in the spring will become large blooming plants 1½ to 2 feet across.

Mums do the best in full sunlight, but may be planted where they get three or four hours of shade.

Pinching out the tips of taller varieties to encourage branching should be done several times—until July 15th. The pinching makes the plants sturdy and bushy.

During the summer the soil around Mums should be cultivated regularly to keep weeds down and to maintain moisture. A well-balanced commercial fertilizer should be applied two or three times during the summer. The plants should be watered well after fertilizing.

Use all-purpose dust occasionally to control insects and foliage diseases.

Mums can be planted at almost any time during spring, summer, or early fall. They can be moved in full bloom to plant in window boxes, or in borders where flowers are needed. One can have a new border overnight by replacing old flowers with fresh blooming Mums.

Chrysanthemums may be selected from colored pictures at the Nursery.

CARE OF IRIS

Iris is one of the easiest perennials to grow. The choice new varieties prove to be delightful surprises.

Iris will grow in almost any soil if there is sun and good drainage, but are most satisfactory in fairly sandy soil with some humus added.

The rhizomes should be planted just below the surface of the ground—no deeper.

Steamed bone meal is an ideal fertilizer. Use about one cupful per square yard.

IMPORTANT PLANTING DIRECTIONS FOR ROSES

Plant roses 2 to 3 inches above the graft. Fill in around roots with rich soil mixed with fertilizer. Then hill up with soil at least one-half of the top, leaving a good basin to hold water. Fill up the basin at least four times every other day until roses are well sprouted.

Be sure to use our special "Rose Food" for better blooms, foliage, color, and even better fragrance.

PLANTING SUGGESTIONS

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS—After they have sprouts 2 inches high, pot in good organic fertilized soil, just covering the bulb. About the last of May, plant out-of-doors in a shady place.

DAHLIAS—Plant deep! Dig out generous-sized holes, and put rotted manure or peat, and bone meal at the bottom of each, mixing well with the soil. Place tuber on its side with eye up, five or six inches below the surface of the ground, but fill in only half the depth of soil at first.

GLADIOLUS—Soak 3 to 6 hours in solution of 1 tsp. Lysol in 1 quart of water. Plant when ground is warm—using bone meal—and at 10-day intervals for succession of bloom, allowing 70 to 90 days for maturity. Plant 4 or 5 inches deep in light soil, but only 3 to 4 inches in heavy soil.

LILIES—Prepare soil with one part loam, one part peat or leafmold, one part sand and rotted manure with a little bone meal added. Dig out the soil to a depth of from one to two feet, put coal ashes or sand into the subsoil. Fill in with the good, prepared soil. Plant lilies 4 to 6 inches deep for base rooting types, 5 to 8 inches for stem rooting. Mulch the soil above after planting.

PERENNIALS—The soil should be well worked. Fertilizer and plenty of humus are necessary for success.

PEONIES—Should be planted with the bud tips about 1½ inches below the surface of the ground. Use one cup of bone meal for each peony.

IRIS—Should be planted with the rhizome barely covered, bone meal for fertilizer.

PLANTING OF LILIES

With a properly made bulb bed and good bulbs one can look forward with certainty to a harvest of beauty.

Good drainage is the first consideration; then the preparation of the soil.

Peat or leaf mold should be added, and bone meal—or a special bulb fertilizer.

The depth of planting varies with the species; normally it should be about three times the height of the bulb. That is, if the bulb is three inches high, its base should be nine inches deep.

According to rooting habits, there are two main classes of lilies. Those of one class product roots from the base of the bulb only; the other kind develop feeding roots along the stem between the bulb and the surface of the ground and the base of the bulb.

Most of the lilies we offer are stem rooting. The Madonna Lily is base rooting.

Whether lilies are grown in a bed by themselves or in the border in combination with perennials, or with shrubs, they require a year round mulch to keep the soil mellow and to conserve moisture.
